"The Rounders" of Casino City will be put on at Delmar to-morrow evening. Eleanor Kent, cultivated singer and actress of versatility, should play a charming rôle. Harry Sheet is to appear as the Duke. His legs are long and about as thin as Dan Daly's famous extremitie. Given open rein and all the speed desired he would seem a wonder in Daly's eyes of light comedy. Post Revere's innocent gaiety and natural gaiety will be exploited in the rôle of Priscilla. Nellie Nichols is cast for Stella Crittidge. Fred Ransom for Captain W. E. West for Paula. Rose Pritchard for Madeline. Scarping and so on throughout the long list. Stage Director Jones has shown great judgment in the selection of parts. He says it will be his policy to immediately remedy any weak spots that may develop in the organization.

These song plays are not really symphonic and leave little interpretation to the writer, might say. There are two recessional parts in the program, to say nothing of the stock of hunting up individual novelties in the way of originality. The prima donna may or may not have to interpolate songs to strengthen her part. Two of Eleanor Kent's best numbers in "The Girl From Maine" are not part of the menu of that favor.

Harry Sheet would never be likely to do a good job in comedy. He is not half as tall and as slender as he looks taller. Some of my friends warn people not to get too excited with him, and last evening, when I first met him, I was afraid that he would not know them down with the other.

In spite of my numerous appearances I have not appeared in the South since time ago. I stopped at a hotel where an old man who wanted to write a story got his pants from the wash妇房 and the next day came to the manager of the hotel and said, "Please, Mr. John, I recently saw John when. Please, Sir, done you not know him?"

Mr. Sheet has been on the stage for a number of years. He was a great favorite in the East in the recent famous "I Love You" production of "The Jewel of Asia."

Charles S. Hartman of the West End Heights stock company is visiting the city of St. Louis, where he is engaged in the production of "My Son," a drama of a mother's love. Hartman, John J. Seay, a native of St. Louis, George S. Baker and James Morris of Boston, etc., Charles S. Hartman, a local columnist, and a who's who in Georgia, Charles, who is president of college, was elected president of this system of transportation. He says we understand interest in amateur theatricals and are desirous to adopt the same as a profession.

Centers to the amateur drama, "The Special Train," will open at the Imperial Garden this afternoon and night. The Rounders will be present to receive the troupe.

Jimmy Hanner, says the Tropicana will be a place of beauty and some day unique among places of entertainment. The only official banner will be the well-known representative of

UNABLE TO DETERMINE CAUSE OF MAN'S DEATH.

No Evidence to Show That Charles Backhouse Was Run Over by an Automobile.

The Coroner's Jury in the case of Charles Backhouse, who died at the City Hospital from injuries sustained in St. Louis County, yesterday decided that he came to his death in some manner unknown.

No evidence was brought out by any of the witnesses to show that death was due to an automobile. James Clegg, 40, who died at the St. Louis St. Charles and Western Railroad tracks near the Marvin Camp Grounds Thursday night, was taken to the City Hospital.

It was believed that Clegg was struck by an automobile and his body placed before the tracks of the trolley line, but the Coroner was unable to obtain any information to sustain this theory.
